NEW QUESTION: 4

Which statement about MSS is true?

- A. It is present in all TCP packets.
- B. It is 20 bytes lower than MTU by default.
- C. It is present in SYN packets.
- D. It is 28 bytes lower than MTU by default.
- E. It is negotiated between sender and receiver.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The maximum segment size (MSS) is a parameter of the Options field of the TCP header that specifies the largest amount of data, specified in octets, that a computer or communication device can receive in a single TCP segment. It does not count the TCP header or the IP header. The IP datagram containing a TCP segment may be self-contained within a single packet, or it may be reconstructed from several fragmented pieces; either way, the MSS limit applies to the total amount of data contained in the final, reconstructed TCP segment.

The default TCP Maximum Segment Size is 536. When a host wishes to set the maximum segment size to a value other than the default, the maximum segment size is specified in a TCP option, initially in the TCP SYN packet during the TCP handshake. The value cannot be changed after the connection is established.
